

MISSION & VISION

Vision draft

Our doors and hearts will be open to all people, including interfaith families, people of all backgrounds, ages, races, financial means, sexual orientations, gender identities and others. We seek to shape a common bond of commitment to Jewish heritage and tradition even as we affirm the freedom to express these shared values in creative and individualistic ways. Our passionate Reform Jewish presence endures to bring Tikkun Olam to our community, Israel, and the world.

With dedicated and inspiring congregational leadership, we will offer enriching opportunities and programs of many varieties and, most importantly, for Jewish learning to members of all ages, preschool to seniors, enabling them to learn about, embrace, value and practice their Judaism. We will support a devoted rabbi and staff who will help inspire engagement and inclusivity among our congregational leaders and members. We will value volunteers, the backbone of a growing, healthy Jewish congregation. We will respect and value individuality among members in their preferences of worship and expression of spirituality, recognizing that the strength of diverse perspectives and opinions can best support the broadest expression of the principles of Reform Judaism.
